

Johnson Has Machinery For Cracking Down on Code Violators

WASHINGTON — General Hugh Johnson is quietly working on a new plan for cracking down on code violators.

The present system of local Compliance Boards is to be amplified. Under the new machinery—soon to be announced—a federal officer in each community will be especially designated to supervise code enforcement. The Compliance Boards will act as investigation agents.

The long-threatened halting of a big code violator into court is getting closer.

Consumer Protection

A hot, secret battle is raging in the inner council of the Agricultural Department over consumer protection.

Dr. Frederick C. Howe, liberal Consumers' Counsel is demanding that a provision be inserted in the master food industries code fixing specified grades and standards for all consumers' goods. J. D. Dole, brother of the pineapple canner, and chief of the Food Products Section, is opposed. Secretary Wallace and the Brain Trust's line up with Howe.

Dole contends the canners and food manufacturers will not accept a code containing such a clause. Howe says it is not a question of what they will accept, but what is in the best interest of the public.

On the Spot

Big Jim Farley is on the spot.

Holy Joe McKee's defeat in the New York mayoralty race has badly impaired Jim's reputation as a political manipulator. Of course, if McKee had won, Jim would be receiving acclaim as a wily strategist.

But McKee did not win, and certain of the President's advisers, who opposed Farley's meddling in the New York situation, are urging that a curb be put on his political operations. According to them, Jim has been doing some quiet intriguing in California and Wisconsin and they want him called off on the ground that if he is not he will pile up a lot of needless trouble for the President amid the Progressives, with whom Farley has never been popular.

One Interpretation

"Mr. Secretary," a reporter asked Henry Wallace, "what do you think of the Farmers' Holiday movement?"

"Well, it might be compared to the nerve in an aching tooth."

Ford Agents

Henry Ford may be anathema to the Roosevelt Administration but his ex-representatives are certainly diffused through the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Most prominent among Ford's men are Major C. W. Dunning, Deputy Director of Processing and Marketing in the AAA, and George Carlson, chief of Licensing and Enforcement.

For ten years Carlson was Ford's agent in Vienna. Dunning was assistant. When high tariffs ruined Ford's Austrian business, both men got out. Major Dunning was a great Hoover booster, went to the Republican Convention in Chicago as a Hoover delegate.

With Roosevelt's election he got a job under the New Deal, immediately hired as his subordinate, his ex-chief Carlson.

Power Investigation

The tactics of southern power interests in resisting the Tennessee Valley Authority have aroused President Roosevelt.

In direction the Federal Trade Commission sent a secret investigator into the region to inquire into power activities. He was under orders to report on a charge that the corporations spent $50,000 in a recent Birmingham, Ala., election to defeat a municipal power proposal.

Knoxville, Tenn., votes on a similar project November 25. Power interests are exerting great effort.

DEFENSE USES LOCAL MEN TO ASSIST AYERS

McCrary, Walisa, Kinser and Others Attack Smith's Veracity.

TRIAL NEARS END

John Ayers' Reputation Lauded by Local Men

Circleville residents held the center of the Ross-co stage, Monday, when the defense got under way in the trial of John Ayers, former Circleville man, who is charged with the first degree murder of John Slone Bentley in the courts of that county.

The defense attempted to show that Ayers was of good character and the David Smith, formerly of Ross-co now of near Ashville, who is apparently the state's star witness, bears an unsavory reputation for truth and veracity.

Indications today were that the trial would possibly be completed by Wednesday afternoon.

McCRADY CALLED

Principal witnesses questioned Monday included:

Officer William McCrary, who said he had known David Smith for 10 or 12 years and that Smith's reputation for truth and veracity was poor. He said Ayers' was good.

James H. Kinser, who told practically the same thing as McCrary. The state brought out testimony that Kinser had once been convicted of assault and battery of his wife.

Roy Walisa, who admitted his business was "selling machines and whiskey," who said Ayers' reputation was good and Smith's was bad.

Elmer Carper, Hocking-co; Samuel Van Gundy, Fairfield-co; Ross Conrad, Adelphi; Sam Pontius, Kinderhook; Jacob Arbaugh, Vinton-co; E. C. Britton, Harrison-twp; Ross-co; Mrs. Laura Kinser, this city; George Butterbaugh and Ben Tule, both of Ross-co, all testified to Ayers' peacefulness and to Smith's failure to follow the truth.

VARIOUS MOTIVES

Attempts were made by the defense attorneys, L. M. Day and Frank Redfern, to paint the deceased Bentley as a vicious man while at the same time showing Ayers to be a peace-loving individual.

The state's attorneys countered by attacking the reputations of some of the witnesses used by the defense.

PLAY WILL ASSIST NEEDY CHILDREN

School Leaders Meet and Decide To Stage Home-Talent Production.

Selection of a cast was started today after superintendents of various township schools met in the office of Supt. D. L. Buchanan, Monday evening, to make plans for a home-talent play, the proceeds from which will go to benefit needy school children.

Committees from various groups are expected to assist in the work. The show will be presented in the Grand Opera House here on Dec. 6 and 8 and will also be presented in Ashville two nights, and in New Holland two nights.

Miss Betty Bonson, of Kenosha, Wis., of the Universal Producing Co., will direct the show which will be entitled "The World's All Right."

BUDGET COMMITTEE BEGINS MEETINGS

All Taxing Districts To Be Given Hearings; Few Changes Expected.

The Pickaway-co budget commission comprised of Treasurer Earl Hoffman, Auditor Clifford White and Prosecutor Ray W. Davis was in session, Tuesday, conducting hearings on tax rates for all the county's township, school, corporation and village districts.

The commission will also be in session Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week and Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday next week.

It is predicted very few changes, if any, will be made in the rates of the various districts. Each taxing district will be given a hearing.

RIGHT-OF-WAY BIG QUESTION

City-County To Divide Cost of Land Over Which To Construct W. Main-St.

The question of a right-of-way for the reconstruction of W. Main-st. between the Norfolk & Western tracks and the Scioto river bridge was believed nearing a solution, Tuesday, after E. S. Neuding and Clark Will, members of city council, met with the county commissioners, Monday.

The state has approved construction of the highway to eliminate the curve which now goes around the vacant Colonial Carriage Co. building. In order to follow the plans and specifications it is necessary to purchase the property which belongs to J. I. Smith, this city; J. R. Hedges, Ashville, and Ted Hedges, Columbus, brothers of Mayor B. T. Hedges.

The figure asked by the three men for the property was not disclosed by the councilmen but it was higher than the city and county want to pay. The offer of the commissioners and city council combined was to be transmitted to the Hedges brothers by Mr. Smith, who attended the meeting. It is quite a lot lower than that asked for the property.

The commissioners have agreed to divide the cost of the right-of-way with the city, it was reported, whatever that cost might be.

The project is under the federal public works program and the government does not bother with obtaining right-of-ways, leaving that to the interested communities. The cash for the job which will be financed by the government and supervised by the state highway department has already been allocated and the contract for the right-of-way is the only thing preventing the work being done at an early date.

LANCASTER'S GAS RATE IS 40 CENTS

Votes Five Cent Reduction; Has Enough City Gas To Run 9 Months.

A five cent reduction in gas rates for domestic consumers was in effect today in Lancaster as a result of action of that city's council Monday night.

An ordinance cutting the rate per thousand cubic feet from 40 cents to 35 cents was adopted and is effective immediately.

The reduction is the second in only a few months' time. Lancaster buys from the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. three months of the year and produces enough fuel from its 175 municipally-owned wells to operate the other nine.

The local gas, all of which comes from the Ohio Fuel Co., costs approximately 63 cents per thousand cubic feet.

JOHNSON PLEASED WITH NRA IN WEST

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 14.—Reporting that everywhere operations of the National Recovery Act have exceeded all expectations, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national administrator, prepared to return to Washington today.

He wound up a week's speaking tour of the west with an address here last night. Citizens have hailed the Recovery act as "The People's Law," he said he had found.

PALMER, FARM LEADER, RAPS STRIKE, QUILTS

Pataksala Man Pleads With Ohio Farmers To Be "Good Citizens."

LEADER 10 YEARS

Takes Issue With Price-Fixing Program

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14.—Although taking issue with governmental price-fixing programs, Lee B. Palmer, of Pataksala, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau today pleaded for Ohio farmers to be "good loyal citizens and give our best support to the administration program."

Addressing the opening session of the two-day meeting of the farm bureau here, Palmer rapped farm strike movements such as are being carried on in western states.

"Being on the defensive and objecting to what the government has to offer through the NRA or the Agriculture Adjustment Act, or the national farm or home loan credit program will not bring the desired results," he declared.

Miss Mary Shortridge, Jackson-twp., and Edward Kreisel, Pickaway-twp., are attending the meeting as delegates from the Pickaway-co Farm Bureau. Marvin Stealy, Washington-twp., secretary of the farm bureau, is also present.

LAST MESSAGE

Palmer's remarks before the bureau convention was considered significant in view of the fact that they were taken as his last executive message.

Yesterday, Palmer notified the board of trustees of the farm bureau that he intends to retire. In announcing his decision to step aside, Palmer said he believed 10 years at the head of the farm bureau were enough.

Speculation was free today as to the likely successor of Palmer. Numerous names have been mentioned but the actual selection will not take place until Thursday at a meeting of the board.

While urging cooperation with the federal government's program, Palmer took issue with the plan of government price-fixing. "It is unfair for the government to guarantee or assist in securing operating costs plus a margin of profit for invested capital for those engaged in distribution of manufacture of other commodities and for organized labor without giving those engaged in agriculture the same protection," he said.

He declared that the value of the commodity dollar "must be stabilized for all alike."

F. R. D. SEEKING HELP FOR U. S.

Wants Soviet To Protect American Workers; Cites Propaganda.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—An understanding for the protection of Americans who may work in Russia and for control of communist propaganda in this country was being sought by President Roosevelt today as a prerequisite to American recognition of the Soviet union.

This was learned in an authoritative quarter as the Russo-American discussions emerged from the technical phase of exchanging view to the stage of bargaining.

The president, it was said, is seeking an understanding with Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet foreign commissar, to prevent the kind of trouble encountered by other countries after they recognized the Soviets.

In the case of Great Britain, which was the chief sufferer, these difficulties centered around the arrest of British nationals in Russia on espionage charges and communist propaganda activities in England. The latter caused an actual rupture of relations in 1927 and the former the virtual recall of the British ambassador from Moscow early this year, followed by economic warfare.

AL MEETS FDR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—President Roosevelt today was to receive Alfred E. Smith in the White House.

The meeting was to go down as momentous—one, even if, as friends of the president insist, it should be only a friendly chat. After all, it has been quite a spell since these two have sat down together for anything of that sort.

Welfare Chief

DAVID S. INGALLS, Republican nominee for governor of Ohio a year ago, who has been appointed welfare director of Cleveland in the cabinet of Former Governor Harry L. Davis, who was sworn into office today, Ingalls served two years in the legislature, is a member of the Cleveland NRA Compliance board and was assistant secretary of the Navy in the Hoover cabinet. Davis succeeds Ray Miller as mayor.

WINTER FALLS OVER COUNTY

Nearly Two Inches of Snow As Mercury Drops To 26-Degree Mark.

Winter laid a heavy hand on Circleville and central Ohio today, leaving the ground covered with a layer of snow and the temperature at a low mark. Mercury dropped to the 26-degree mark at 7 a.m. Tuesday but was up to 35 at noon, Dr. H. R. Clarke, weather observer, announced.

Streets and highways were glazed with ice covering and utmost precautions were ordered in an effort to reduce accidents.

The new cold wave struck this section of the state after a brief spell of mild weather.

Snow here totalled one and one-half inches Tuesday morning.

Court May Rule On Mayor Fight In Fayette City

Election Board's Flip of Coin Names Curtin, But Worrell Protests.

WASHINGTON C. H., Nov. 15.—The courts may have to decide who this city's mayor will be. The board of elections flipped a coin Monday to settle a tie and Peter H. Curtin has been declared the next mayor as the result of the toss but Mayor Peter Worrell is not satisfied.

Worrell is expected to demand a recount of the vote within the next five days.

He declared before the coin was tossed that he would not be a party to the game of chance and Curtin declared the same thing. Now it's up to Worrell to take action.

REPORT IRREGULARITIES. Officials are not certain whether the mayor will ask a recount of one precinct, several precincts, or all precincts. There have been rumors of a number of alleged irregularities.

Saturday both candidates had announced their intention of contesting the election, Curtin claiming the election by two votes and Worrell by the least one. Curtin declared that two absent voters' ballots which had been ordered by the secretary of state were illegal and should not be included in the count. Worrell indicated that claims of non-resident voters and persons under age voting would probably be probed when the contest was launched.

Justus Is Justus But Not Justice

Willard Justus, well known Jackson-twp man, Monday denied that he had been elected justice of the peace of his township at last Tuesday's election.

"Our township has no justice of the peace," Mr. Justus said "and I am not a candidate for the job."

He said he believed enough of his friends had as a joke written his name into the ballot enough times to have him named. "If I was elected I would not make an effort to qualify," Mr. Justus declared.

EARLY OPERATION OF OHIO LIQUOR LAW SEEN AS COMMITTEES GATHER

Physician Predicts Cure For Tuberculosis Near

SHELTON, Conn., Nov. 14.—Details of experiments extending over a quarter of a century and so portentous as to tempt the prediction that "a cure for tuberculosis is in sight," today lay before 1,800 physicians who assembled here to listen to Dr. Stephen J. Maher, internationally famed authority on tuberculosis, describe how he has transformed tested strains of tubercle bacilli into harmless cocci and diplococci.

The title of his paper, "The Progeny of the Tubercle Bacillus," Dr. Maher told his audience, might flippantly read "How to Coax Tubercle Bacilli to Commit Suicide."

From an original strain of tubercle bacilli obtained in 1908 from the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Maher said, he made sub-cultures in which he found a few months later cocci and diplococci mixed with granular bacilli of the dread "white plague."

Using a glycerine broth flask culture of tubercle, Dr. Maher related, he was able, by adding 30 per cent of sterile milk to the flask and putting it in a room temperature for ten days, to cause the development of tiny cocci and diplococci that seemed to "come from the granules and heads of exploded tubercle bacilli." The latter, he said, had diminished in number and those remaining had lost the granules they contained before the addition of the milk.

Advisors Hope Plan Can Be Ready For Solons.

SESSION DEC. 6.

Secrecy Is Key-Note Of Conferences.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14.—Still cloaking its deliberations in utmost secrecy, the governor's liquor advisory commission today was to resume sessions out of which will come recommendations for the taxation and sale of intoxicants.

According to Benedict Crowell, Cleveland, chairman, the commission will remain in session until it has formulated its program. Gov. George White has asked that it be ready not later than next week.

To date the commission has made no report on its progress, and the present session was to be behind closed doors as have been all previous meetings.

No announcement is forthcoming as to when, if at all, the group will confer with the Ackerman senate liquor committee, which has been conducting its own hearings on liquor control proposals in various sections of the state.

GROUPS MAY CONFER

Individual members of the governor's advisory board expressed a desire to meet with the senate committee, but no date has been set, although only a short time remains before the recommendations must be handed to White.

Actual work of drawing up the measures will be in the hands of Sen. H. G. Mosier, (D.) Cleveland; Carlton S. Daughch, tax commissioner, and Attorney Clarence Laylin, tax expert. Senator Mosier thought that drafting of the proposed laws would begin not later than Thursday.

It was also his belief that the proposals would be framed as taxation measures to insure their immediate operation as soon as approved by the legislature.

LICENSES FAVORED

He reported increased sentiment in favor of the state setting up its own stores for distribution of liquor. The governor, however, favors licensing of independent retailers.

The repeal session of the general assembly convenes here on Dec. 6, to repeal existing prohibition enforcement laws and to enact liquor control legislation.

U. S. Distillers Oppose Wallace

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—America's newly legalized liquor industry, feverishly active in preparation for actual repeal next Dec. 5, today looked forward with some misgivings to the prospect of having a political dry and a "teetotaler" as its probable czar.

Spokesmen for the big distillery interests are grumbling at the rigid restrictions which Secretary of Agriculture Wallace seeks to impose through a grain market—(Continued on Page Two)

G. W. FRIEND DIES AT HOME OF NIECE

Resident Here 12 Years Succumbs After Suffering From Apoplexy.

George W. Friend, aged 74, died Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of his niece, Miss Lina Dunkle, 465 E. Main-st., of apoplexy after a week's illness.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Dunkle residence, with interment in Forest cemetery by H. E. Defenbaugh and son.

Mr. Friend, who has been a resident here for about 12 years, is survived by seven children, Mrs. Minnie Hart of Montgomery, Ala., Mrs. Margaret Cox, and Mrs. Dotty Robinson of Lancaster; Miss Elizabeth Friend of Springfield; James and Boyd Friend of Lancaster and George of Wichita, Kansas.

MRS. DAWSON FACES ASSAULT CHARGES

Mrs. Lenore Dawson, wife of Richard "Slim" Dawson, this city, has been ordered to appear before Mayor B. T. Hedges Tuesday at 7 p. m. to answer charges of assault and battery filed in the city court Monday evening by May Reaser. She charges Mrs. Dawson struck her.

ACE, WIFE MAY FLY ATLANTIC

Believe Lindbergh, Now In Spain, Planning Flight By Way of Azores.

HORTA, Azores, Nov. 14.—The suggestion was voiced here today that Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, who are now in Europe, may return to the United States by way of the Azores to study winter flying conditions in the south Atlantic.

An official of the pan-American airways visited the Azores this summer to study conditions at landing fields and seaports in the islands.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh already have made an intensive study of flying conditions in the north Atlantic.

They flew from the United States to Europe by way of Greenland, Iceland, the Faroe islands and the Shetland islands, spending considerable time at each place surveying suitable spots for landing places in anticipation of establishments of a regular commercial air route by way of the Arctic regions.

Two Children Burned As Family Returns From Funeral of Son

HAMMOND, Ind., Nov. 14.—Two small children, Clement De Rosa, 9, and his brother Peter, 7, were dead, burned to death following an automobile collision here last night while their parents looked on helplessly to save them.

The two were riding on the rear seat of their father's automobile when it struck a truck, overturned and caught fire. The parents were able to escape. Six others were burned in the crash. The De Rosas were returning from the grave of a third son.

Kipke's Record One Of Finest

By JOHN C. HOFFMAN
International News Service Sports
Writer.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Sixteen straight victories. Thirty-one triumphs in 39 starts. Four defeats in 39 games. Three consecutive Big Ten conference championships; possibly a fourth this fall. That would sound like the achievements of a Rockne, a Slip Madigan or a Doc Spears. But it isn't. It's the record of Michigan football since Harry G. Kipke took the team away from Tad Wieman in 1929. It's the record of a young man who quietly and efficiently plods his methodical way through football seasons without the bluster and dancing in the streets customarily attending the accomplishments of less capable coaches.

USES OWN SYSTEM

At 33, Kipke is one of the most successful coaches in the country. In the blaring of trumpets anent such coaching luminaries as Madigan, Spears, "Pop" Warner and old man Stagg, perhaps we hear too little about Kipke, as yet, he has no system named after him, but the theory that systems make touchdowns is now pretty well established as not even a good grade of hokum.

Watching Kipke-coached teams, one gets flashes of what is known as the Rockne system, the Warner method and the Minnesota procedure. But, in reality, Kipke does his own thinking.

In his playing days Kipke was one of the greatest kickers of the game as well as an all-around athlete of note. He could boot a long punt out of bounds at will.

Kipke went to Michigan in 1920. During his career there he earned nine major letters. In his second year he was an all-American halfback and in 1923 he captained the squad.

Following graduation, he was assistant coach at Missouri, returning to Michigan in 1923 as assistant coach in basketball and football. In 1928 he was made head coach at Michigan state.

MEET MINNESOTA

Two conference games remain for the Wolverines before they can claim the Big Ten championship—Minnesota and Chicago. Indicative of what the Gophers can expect next Saturday when they meet Michigan is the fact that Minnesota has never beaten Michigan under Kipke in four tries.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 14.—Kim Whitehead, halfback, and Ed Nichols, guard, will be out of action for several more days but will be ready for the Harvard game, it was reported today. Yale will put tickets for the public for the Princeton game on sale next week.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 14.—Intensive drill for the Navy game Saturday was on tap today. Coach Crisler planned special work for the backfield on passing. Crisler yesterday said Dartmouth was the best team Princeton has met this year.

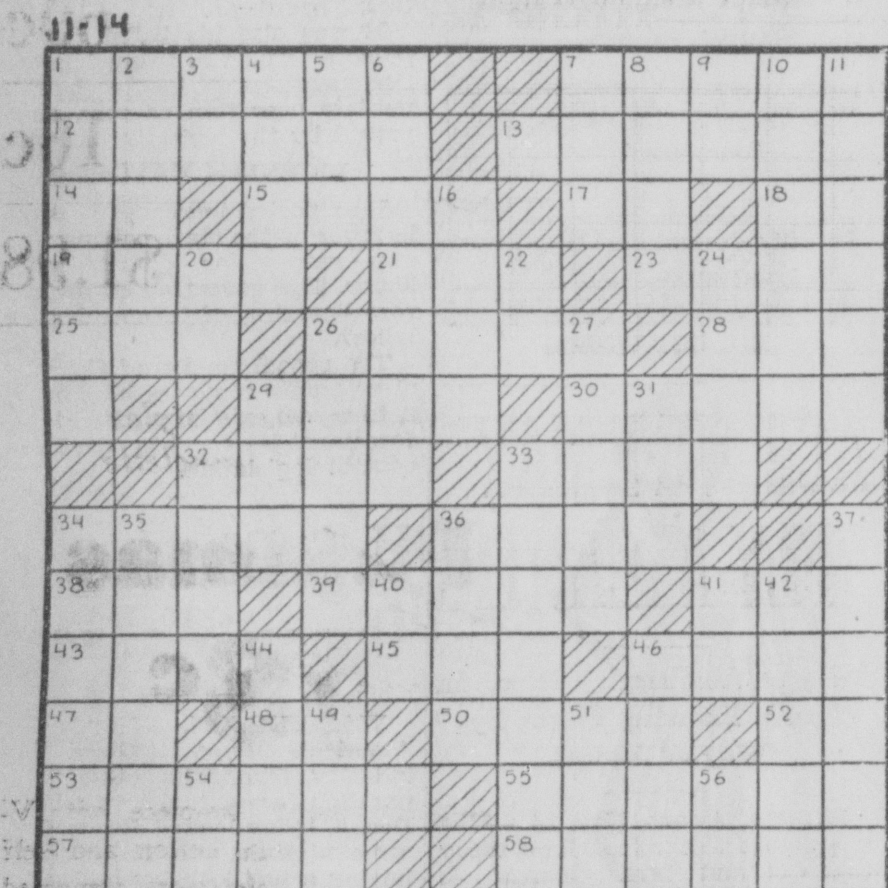

MILLER TO MEET TITLE OPPONENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Freddie Miller, holder of the National Boxing association featherweight championship, will defend his title against Lew Feldman in a feature bout of ten rounds tonight. The title affair will mark Miller's return to the east, having not fought here since the night of Dec. 11, 1931, when he gained the judges' decision over the same Feldman in an eight-round semifinal to the Bat Battalion-Al Singer battle in the garden.

The semi-final is expected to supply plenty of fireworks, with Billy Hogan, undefeated upstart, tackling Wesley Ramey, of Grand Rapids, recent conqueror of Tony Canzoneri, then lightweight champion, in a non-title affair.

OHIO BOBCATS, CINCINNATI TO VIE SATURDAY

Buckeye Conference Outcome May Hinge On This Week's Battle.

ATHENS, Nov. 14.—With the paths cleared of Saturday's football obstructions for Ohio University and Cincinnati, all indications point to a terrific collision of the two grid machines when they meet in Nippert Stadium, Saturday.

The classic battle of the 'Cats may possibly decide the claimant of the 1933 Buckeye Conference football crown, though Ohio must face Ohio Wesleyan and the Bearcats will meet Miami following the encounter in Cincinnati Saturday. The 20th meeting of the two teams, however, will break the present deadlock for first place in the Buckeye league.

Both universities will be celebrating special occasions when the Bearcat-Bobcat fracas is staged. Don's Day will be observed by the entertaining university, while Ohio will come to Cincinnati on its annual Migration Day trek. A special train will bring the Bobcat Band and a small army of supporters.

LAST FOR SEVEN
The contest with the Bearcat eleven, one of the strongest produced by Cincinnati University, will mark the final away-from-home tilt for seven of Ohio's senior gridgers. Although Coach Don Peden has greater reserve strength this season than ever before, these men will be conspicuous by their absence when the teams meet again next year.

Cincinnati's impressive record this fall is receiving the most serious consideration by Ohio's coaching staff. The Bobcat "brain trust" believes that the Bearcats are even a more serious threat this season than last when they came to Athens with a record of nine straight victories.

DODGERS IN LEAD WITH AIR TOSSES

Pass New York and Green Bay; Chicago Bears Lead Loop; Spartans Next.

The Brooklyn Dodgers by completing half their passes against Pittsburgh have taken a clear cut lead in forward passing in the National Football league. The Dodgers by completing 50 in 104 tosses for an average of 48 per cent passed New York and Green Bay in aerial efficiency.

Boston continues the best offensive team with 2152 yards gained in nine games, while Green Bay has the best defensive mark with only 1338 yards gained through their line in nine games. The New York Giants hold a commanding lead as point getters with 167, while Portsmouth in eight games has yielded only 43 points.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 14.—With the prospect of meeting the east's two unbeaten teams—Princeton and Army—on successive Saturdays, Head Coach Miller planned to handle his squad carefully to avoid injuries. Therefore, no bruising scrimmage was in prospect today as the team tackled Princeton formations.

About THIS and THAT

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

ALL persons interested in basketball are urged to be at the Circleville Athletic club gymnasium Thursday at 8 p. m. to 'hash out' the question of whether there shall be independent basketball played at the Club this year.

The question of finances of course, is the chief one. The Club must be assured of sufficient revenue to fire furnaces for heating the gym, to pay water bills after the showers have been used, and to pay light bills which mount when the gymnasium is lighted. Just what solution will finally be worked out is questionable.

The matter, however, has gone far enough that it is believed an offer will be made by Club leaders to anyone who wants to play independent basketball. Whether the Club will consider backing the team is unknown.

An unofficial report that the high school had offered the club $7 a night for the use of the gym was scoffed at by Club leaders. It was not so many years ago

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Fordham ram will start an intensive drive today for the football game with Oregon state at the Polo grounds Saturday. Johnny Del Isola, star center, whose nose was broken in the N. Y. U. battle, will don a special noseguard and play.

If his buying keeps, Uncle Sam soon should have enough gold to pay the Nez Perce Indians the wagonload of yellow metal they say he promised them in 1885.

ing agreement and a code of fair competition.

WALLACE IN CHARGE

Wallace, politically and personally arid, is tentatively slated to serve as the administration officer in charge of code enforcement for the distillers.

Under provisions to which the liquor manufacturers already have agreed, and additional restrictions favored by the administration, he may exercise truly czaristic power.

Part of this power he will probably delegate to Farm Administrator George N. Peek, who favored repeal and is not averse to a drink now and then.

Public hearings on the distillers' marketing agreement and code have been delayed by Wallace's absence. A lively undercurrent wrangle is being waged between the distillers and the administration.

Another astonishing thing is the amount of ignorance a hard head can accumulate in 40 years.

DON'T GET UP NIGHTS

Lax the Bladder With Juniper Oil, Buchu, Etc.

Drive out the impurities and excess acids that cause irritation, burning and frequent desire. Juniper oil is pleasant to take in the form of BUCKETS, the bladder laxative, also containing Buchu leaves, etc. Works on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. Get a 25c box from any drug store. After four days if not relieved of "getting up nights" go back and get your money. If you are bothered with backache or leg pains caused from bladder disorders you are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep.

Farm Chiselers

FROM the wheat growers has come some of the most caustic criticism of the national recovery program and its administrators, so one assumes that these critics, more than all others, are doing their part. Another false assumption.

Under the Agricultural Adjustment Administration the government promises to pay the wheat growers a bonus and the growers promise the government to reduce their acreage by 15 per cent. The government, which is the people, is carrying out its part of the agreement. What of the farmer?

Three statistical agencies have been checking up on the progress made in acreage reduction. One reports a curtailment of 1.1 per cent. Another of 6 per cent. The third, 10 per cent. Illinois has actually increased its acreage, while Kansas, Ohio, Oklahoma, Texas and Montana have not brought their down the requisite 15 per cent.

Farmers are evading the AAA by planting new land in wheat. For every acre turned into some other crop by one farmer a fraction of an acre is turned into wheat by his neighbor who did not raise wheat last year. The purpose of these chiselers is to take advantage of the expected high prices and next year's bonus.

Although the act may not expressly forbid it, the intent was that no new ground be planted in wheat until the present surplus is consumed. The government may be powerless to checkmate these chiselers but the consumers, upon whom the bonus, falls, can deal with them. Here is a job for those who believe in fair dealing.

Doctors who advise folks how to live long probably include in the instructions "stay off the highways."

Destiny!

WESTERVILLE, Ohio,—home of the Anti-Saloon League—remains dry—bone dry.

That solves the very serious problem of finding a sanctuary for the disappointed dries.

Now Henry Ford, who once said he would not make cars in a drinking country, need not remove the remainder of his factories into Canada, England and Germany. Mrs. Henry W. (Flag or Flask) Peabody, of the Women's National Committee for Law (Prohibition) Enforcement, is spared the ignominy of being a lady without a country. A year or two ago she departed from her home in Massachusetts because she couldn't live in wet territory.

Westerville will also offer a haven for bootleggers who will find unprofitable competition with the legitimate liquor trade elsewhere.

In time this Ohio town of 2800 population may become a more or less living museum to prohibition, where the antiquarian may find specimens of the bootlegger, home brew and moonshine. Who knows but what that is Westerville's destiny!

The ancient expression, "sound and fury," is just highbrow for the modern talkies and critics.

Every community has at least one family whose members have no skill at anything except winning law suits.

The folks who said repeal would never come should have taken a leaf from the experience of the folks who said prohibition would never come.

THAT'S MY BOY!

by FRANCIS WALLACE
AUTHOR OF "HUDDLE"

SYNOPSIS

The colorful career of "Big Jeff" Randolph, now a national football hero, has been traced from his humble home in tiny Athens, a mid-west factory town, through high school gridiron stardom that made him a magnet for scouts from big colleges and through two years of backfield glory as a superstar at Thorndyke, rich and historic eastern university. He's the idol of fandom, the pet of society, the envy of back-home neighbors, and "my boy" to his adoring Mom and Pop. To the former, he's still her little Tommy and to father, well—

Tom's manners and clothes annoy the veteran glassworker who secretly, however, rates his boy on a par with Pop's supreme political favorite, Al Smith. Before Thorndyke had put a high hat sort of halo on him, Tommy's best girl was Dorothy Whitney, daughter of the richest and most important citizen in Athens. But in New York, Tommy has met Elaine Winthrop, society artist and daughter of a Wall Street magnate. Tommy spends most of the summer as assistant at a boys' camp and becomes greater than ever in the early season games of his senior year. Everyone's talkin' of Thorndyke's coming game with "the Yales". . . . Times are getting hard, but Mom doesn't worry much about Tommy, thinking of Elaine and her Wall Street father; she also thinks of Dorothy.

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

Sometimes Mom couldn't help wondering about Dorothy and if she wasn't sorry she had been so snippy. She and Tommy weren't exactly mad; they spoke and all that; but he hadn't gone to see her when he was home in the summer. Cousin Emmy said they had run into each other one night at the Sugar Bowl and had talked real nice but were kind of strange like—each one was afraid to take the lead. Mom couldn't say anything against Dorothy herself; she was always real nice with Mom and was certainly a pretty girl and always came home with the latest styles from over east; and she had a crowd around her house all the time although they said she was still going steady with the boy from Smithville. Mom saw him with her one night. He was all right enough but was kind of short and stumpy-like. Mom liked big men like Pop—and Charlie Whitney. Uncle Louie was kind of thin and scrawny and was getting hump-backed. Pat Flannigan and even Cousin Emmy's man were big, too. Mrs. Johnson's Hen was just so-so—but any of them were better than the banty rooster across the street.

"Well," said Jerry Randall, "it's the kid's last game."
"How about the Tournament of Roses?" Charlie Whitney asked.
"No roses—I have a feeling that the Bulldog is mad."
"It'll be a football game," Charlie agreed.

It was—although at the beginning it looked like another personally conducted tour of triumph led by the great Jeff Randolph. Randolph kicked off and went down to tackle Harlow on the Eli 12-yard line. In two plays Harlow made five yards and then kicked to Barton, the Thorndyke quarterback, who was downed on his 40-yard line in attacking territory, however.

"Now—let's go," Charlie called. Dorothy gazed at him fondly. Her Dad was by again at these games, for this much was thankful to Tommy Randolph. The attack was slow starting. Yale linemen piled up two plays; then they became too anxious and were off-side twice and Thorndyke was in Eli territory without half-trying. Luck continued with the Pilgrims. Tommy made six yards at center and an incomplete pass was ruled complete because of interference for a first down on the 28-yard line.

Yale was flustered and indecisive now. The Thorndyke attack clicked. Randolph and Barton alternated, carried the ball to the seven-yard line as the Pilgrim stands rioted. With fourth and two to go, Tommy pounded through the middle for five yards and a first down on the three-yard line.

"What was that about the Bulldog?" Charlie asked.
Jerry shook his head. Dorothy almost believed he wanted Yale to win. Dorothy didn't care much—but it was Tommy's last game.

"Touchdown!" the Pilgrim crowd called loudly.

Tommy bowed into the line. It piled up. The white-shirted referee piled into the crowd, came up with the ball, waved his arm frantically toward the Thorndyke goal. It was Yale's ball.

"Hm—Tom's not a fumbler—" Charlie Whitney said.

Harlow kicked out on the first down. Barton returned 24 yards, diagonally, for a first down on the 16-yard line.

"We'll get it now," Charlie said confidently.

But they didn't get it. In four plays Randolph and Barton gained nine yards. Yale's ball again.

"And that," said Jerry Randall, "is what the sport writers refer to as the great Blue wall."

Charlie said nothing. Dorothy felt he was slightly annoyed at Jerry's attitude toward his own team. She was slightly annoyed herself.

This time Harlow didn't kick at once—he faked a kick and ran nine yards around the end. Working to get out of the hole the Yale quarterback mixed his plays cleverly—even tried a short pass deep in his end territory—and he moved his team up to the 40-yard line before he had to punt. It was a good punt. Harlow kicked and bounded outside on the Thorndyke 17-yard line. The period ended.

"Well!" Charlie Whitney mused. "Did I say this was going to be a football game?"

Neither side could gain effectively. The Yale line, encouraged by its two stands at the goal stripe, threw back the Pilgrim forwards and pounced upon Randolph before he could get started. The stalwart Thorndyke line was equally stubborn on defense. Then Harlow was hurried, got off a short punt and Thorndyke had first down on the Yale 42.

"Now we'll go—come on, Tom!" Charlie called.

Tom tried. He made eight yards in three plays. He had to kick and it was out on the 18-yard line. Harlow tried two plays but was stopped—and punted to midfield.

This time Barton gambled. He faked an end run and then threw a long pass down the middle; Randolph was leading it and started back to catch the ball—but Verger, Eli halfback, came across the field, beat Tom to it with a leaping catch and Yale was again out of the hole with first down on its 33-yard line. In three plays the vibrant Bulldogs had a first down in midfield but a penalty threw them back to the line. Then Harlow got off a long, bounding punt that rolled to the sideline, away from Barton, and out of bounds on the Pilgrim 23-yard line.

"I told you the Bulldog was mad," Jerry observed.

Again Barton gambled—he called a quick kick from running formation, but Verger, smelling the play, darted back, caught it on the fly and prevented the roll which is the virtue of the play—and Yale had first down on its 44. In three plays they were into Pilgrim territory; then Harlow kicked out of bounds on the Thorndyke 12-yard line.

"And so," observed Jerry, "our backs are to the wall."

"You seem to like it," Dorothy observed.

"No—but I can't seem to work up much of a passion against this threat to the fair name of dear old Thorndyke."

Barton tried a running play to get out of the hole but fumbled; Randolph recovered on the nine-yard line. This time he punted high and far to the Yale 48.

"Good boy Tom!" Charlie said quietly. Dorothy wanted to pat his hand. She felt grateful to Tom Randolph for the moment—in a manner he was pinch-hitting for her. Regardless of what he really thought, it was plain to Dorothy that, in his secret heart, that was Charlie Whitney's son out there on the field.

"Come on, Tommy!" she called.

But Tommy got no chance. Yale suddenly threw off its fetters and got hot. A 12-yard gain by Verger; a 25-yard pass on first down, fooling Tommy Randolph himself; two yards; seven yards in a twisting dash by Harlow—Verger again for five and a first down on the four-yard line; no gain and a fervent Thorndyke cheer—then the center of the line opened and Harlow bounced far into the end zone for a touchdown.

Appalled by the suddenness of it, Dorothy said nothing. Jerry's pursed lips were hard to fathom. Charlie was somewhat bewildered and a bit downcast. Dorothy had never seen much emotion in her father in the normal course of life. It was a bit odd that it took a football game and one of his employee's children to make her feel pity for her Dad.

Tommy was lined up under the goal posts.

It was, Dorothy realized, the first time she had ever caught him in an attitude of defeat.

Tommy was straining against it, fighting mad; talking to his men. The whistle blew and they swarmed out to block the kick but it went over their up-stretched arms. The score was Yale 7, Thorndyke 0.

"Well," said Dorothy, "have you worked up any passion yet?"

She was half-inclined to pounce upon him; Jerry was entirely too faithful to the college tradition of nonchalance; there were times when even a gentleman must be stirred. "I feel inkies," he confessed.

"After all—"

In a very few minutes Jerry felt more than inkies. Harlow kicked off over the end zone. Thorndyke put the ball in play on the 20-yard line—and on the first play the zinging Yale linemen crashed through the Thorndyke line as through wet blotting paper and nailed Tom for a nine-yard loss. There was nothing to do but punt. Tom placed his men for protection, dropped far back and, though hurried by the uproarious Bulldogs, got off a high kick to the Thorndyke 43-yard line.

There the snaky Verger caught him, seemed trapped by the two Thorndyke ends but eluded them and was off through the filtered field on a ricocheting course that quickly brought him past the nine under the punt; only Barton, the last blocker, and Tom Randolph were in his path—he skimmed by Barton with the speed of a nervous eel. Randolph got him from the side and barely held his toe as the slippery Eli wriggled. He had returned 32 yards to the 12-yard line. Another touchdown seemed imminent.

The teams lined up—but before the ball could be passed the gun sounded which ended the half.

General Electric's Gerard Swope has revised his plan for industrial control to replace the NRA.

The outburst of criticism that greeted his scheme was not lost on him. As canny a politician as he is a business man, the short dynamic industrialist, in his modified plan, gives both government and labor representation, but—here is the rub—industry would still be supreme.

I. G. Dayton, Ohio—General Hermann Goering's violent hatred for Communists is attributed in German quarters to an incident that occurred shortly after the Armistice. They snatched his coat off his shoulders and decorations, and slapped his face. He has never forgotten or forgiven this affront.

Neglect of Malnutrition In Childhood Dangerous

It Causes Many Cases of Poor Health, Faulty Physical Development in Adult Life

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

A RECENT announcement of the United States public health service is unusually interesting. It states that the majority of cases of poor health and faulty physical development in adult life can be traced to neglect of under-nourishment or underweight, so commonly seen in early childhood.

This state of health, known as "malnutrition," is more prevalent than most parents suspect. It is found in the country districts as well as in the city. Contrary to the common belief, it affects the children of the rich as well as the poor. Of course, there are marked variations from this rule, but it may well be that the child who gains less than these figures is suffering from malnutrition.

Malnutrition can be traced to a lack of appetite and a dislike for certain foods. When a child refuses the essential foods, like milk and vegetables, undernourishment is likely to occur.

A Dislike of Foods

To avoid dislikes for foods, it is advisable to plan pleasant surroundings at meal times. Above all, never force a child to eat. He should be encouraged to eat and if necessary rewards for good behavior may be tried.

Many a child learns to dislike certain foods because it is discovered that the parent does not eat it. For this reason never discuss your food in the presence of a child. Children mimic their elders and love to imitate them in every way.

Food should always be served in a tempting manner. Avoid serving foods that are improperly prepared, tasteless and gritty. It is a good plan to taste the food before offering it to the child.

Accustom the child early in life to a wide variety of foods. New foods should be offered but never forced. In this way many new dishes may be added and a properly balanced diet will be the result.

Persistent lack of appetite and lack of interest in food is a serious sign that must not be neglected. Do not resort to the use of so-called "tonics" and "health builders." Consult your doctor. A complete physical examination may reveal diseased tonsils or other infection that is the underlying cause of the poor appetite and underweight.

Mrs. Maggie Morris is the local director and Miss Mary Elizabeth Groce is the district superintendent for children.

The afternoon session beginning at 1:30 p. m. is for adults. Rev. Lewis Hampshire, of Chillicothe, will preside. Some of the subjects for discussion follow:

Brotherhood work; Social Program for Adults; Adults and Stewardship; Social Service in Church and Community; Evangelism, and Leadership Training.

Rev. C. M. Bowman, of Portsmouth, is conference director of adult work. Other speakers will be Rev. Merle Holcomb, Rev. Spurgeon Metzler, Rev. S. W. Hiles, Rev. H. C. Elliott, Rev. H. O. Thompson and Rev. D. S. Mills.

The evening program will be presented at the Chillicothe First church and will be for young people. Delegations will motor there from Ashville, Circleville and Pickaway circuit.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Stout, E. Franklin-st., have returned from their week-end visit with A. K. Wolf and family of Indianapolis, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Heller of Anderson, Ind.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

LADIES ought to be real careful in their talking about clothes with one another, especially if they are not altogether friendly. Now, there was some women at a bridge party not long ago, and Mrs. James and Mrs. Barlow were talking about their furs for next winter, and neither of these ladies was very clever about the other, only they were being awfully polite.

"My husband is going to get me some furs, something like them you were going to buy last winter, you know. You were looking at them for quite a while, but you didn't get around to buying them, you remember, Mrs. James? Them black and white ones, you know, that they were talking about. I don't know what kind they were exactly, but they weren't very expensive."

"Oh, you mean skunk," said Mrs. James.

But Mrs. Barlow took it all wrong, and waded right in and pulled the front hair all over Mrs. James' head.

BROTHERS HELD; TO FACE JURORS

Plead Guilty To Chicken Theft; Ross-Co Couple Fined By Mayor.

Francis and Fred Ryan, brothers of Columbus and Deercreek-twp. respectively, were in the county jail, each under $500 bond today after being bound over to the grand jury by Mayor B. T. Hedges for breaking and entering the chicken house of Jerry Williams, Scioto twp. last Friday night.

Williams filed the charges before the mayor Monday and the hearing was conducted late in the afternoon.

Both men pleaded guilty to the charges.

They were discovered taking 43 chickens away by Williams' son who returned to the house, obtained a shotgun and "peppered" the rear of the truck they were driving. The Ryans saw Williams coming with the gun and fled leaving the chickens behind.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff and Deputy Bryan Custer were called and after patrolling the roads for a while caught Francis Ryan returning on the Jackson-pk to Columbus after taking his brother home. He confessed his part and implicated his brother.

RANKS PAY FINES

Robert and Loretta Rank, of near Richmondale, left a check of about $50 in the hands of local officials Monday afternoon when they were given hearings on charges of intoxication and destruction of property.

Mayor B. T. Hedges fined Rank $5 and costs and his wife $10 and costs for intoxication and the latter was also fined $15 and costs for destruction of property in the jail. The $15 in the latter case goes to the county to repair a table and window glass she broke after being arrested.

Mr. Rank drove his automobile into the parked car of Herbert Stinson, E. Union-st., Saturday night.

while in Europe by Mrs. May McCullough, she discussed the different beautiful churches and cathedrals of the cities, which she visited. Solo "Just an Old Fashioned Garden," by Mrs. Charles Dresbach accompanied by Mrs. G. L. Borders, reading "Revising the Ten Commandments," by Mrs. A. W. Brundige, piano duet by Marvin and Irene Pontious, reading "Arminia the Radio Fan" by Miss Anna Pontious, Mrs. V. C. Stump thanked the persons making up the numbers of the program. After a few remarks by Mrs. Stump the Ladies' Aid Society of the Salem church served chicken soup, wafers, pickles, pumpkin pie and hot coffee. A thank offering of ten dollars was received.

Miss Kay Reticlick of Lebanon, was the guest of Miss Margaret Norris a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kempton and Ralph Westover of Liston were the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Enrich. Ralph participated in the track meet held in Columbus on Saturday afternoon.

WIFE OF GANGSTER IS MOVED TO EAST

CINCINNATI, Nov. 14.—Kathryn Kelly, 24-year-old titan-haired wife of George (Machine-Gun) Kelly, who was convicted along with her husband for the kidnaping of an Oklahoma City millionaire, has been mysteriously spirited out of the Cincinnati workhouse by federal officials, it was learned here today.

Mrs. Kelly was brought here to the workhouse following her conviction in connection with the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma oil millionaire.

After secretly taking Mrs. Kelly from the workhouse, she was taken aboard a train for an eastern destination. The exact destination was unknown and Fred K. Hoehler, Cincinnati safety director, declined to comment upon the removal of the woman.

JURY NAMED FOR TRIAL OF NURSE

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Nov. 14.—Task of selecting a jury to try Miss Frieda Wilhelmina Wetz, 43-year-old World War nurse on charges of murdering her former employer, Francis J. M. Grace, shipping magnate, was completed here today.

The jury was told by attorney for the defense that Miss Wetz would take the stand and tell her entire story.

Indication that the death penalty would be asked, in the event premeditation is proven, was seen when the district attorney asked prospective jurors if the sex of the defendant would deter them from voting the death penalty.

NEWS OF HOMES AND HOME FOLKS

VOL. 4. NO. 46

Published by STEVENSON'S Tuesday, November 14, 1933

Last Wednesday, while the "editor" was walking on West Main, we met Miss Porter, formerly of near Atlanta and now a resident of Chillicothe, who informed us that she was still using the Estate Heatrola we sold to her in the Fall of 1925 and that it was "as good as new." For eight long and hard winters this Heatrola has been faithfully keeping the Porter home snug and comfy. That Heatrola installation was the fifteenth made by us. The total now runs up into the hundreds. They are scattered all over the county, with about half of them right here in Roundtown. There's one not far from your home. If you want to know if they are giving satisfactory service, ask us to give you the names of your neighbors that are using the Estate Heatrola for whole house heating, including the floor.

A studio couch was recently sold to Mrs. R. in this city and she made such a fine report to us about it that we decided to order in another one. The second one just came in the other day and is now waiting for some one to invite it to come out to their home and make things more comfortable.

A lady to whom we sold an Estate Heatrola last August happened to mention her purchase to another party and this party said, "Well, you made no mistake in picking an Estate. I know a lady down in the south end that heats her whole house satisfactorily with one of them." The Heatrola has since been delivered and we hope that our new customer likes the way her Heatrola heats. We also hope that she, too, will turn "booster" for our store and our Heatrolas.

We'll wager a guess that Mrs. R. is one of the proudest women in Saltercreek-twp when it comes to her range. Her guests, no doubt, will be entertained in her kitchen so that all might enjoy looking at the new Estate Heatrola Coal Range which was installed one day last week. And

Auxiliary to Sponsor Girl Scout Troop

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary to Howard Hall Post No. 134 at their regular meeting Monday evening in the Post room at Memorial hall, voted to sponsor Circleville Girl Scout troop No. 3, which recently organized under the leadership of Mrs. Fred Dauenhauer, who is a new member of the Auxiliary.

The troop will be under the direction of Mrs. Dauenhauer as captain, and the troop committee comprised of Mrs. Mildred Karshner, Mrs. Paul Betz and Miss Katherine Mead.

Girls who have registered for membership in the troop include Eleanor McAbee, Romaine Hernley, Marjory Fausnaugh, Eleanor Wiggins, Eris Francis, Betty Sapp, Theresa Randall, Mary Smith, Georgibel Graves, Pollyanna Friedman and Gail Dauenhauer. Prospective members are Medrith Bach, Marilyn Lutz, Mary Katherine Piles, Betty Bach, Marie Keys, Peggy Goeller and Betty Clifton.

The troop will have its first meeting under the auspices of the Auxiliary sometime this week at the Memorial hall.

Mrs. John Ward, newly elected president, appointed her executive committee at last night's session. The committee is comprised of Mrs. B. T. Hedges, Mrs. William Betz, and Mrs. Paul Betz. The Auxiliary expressed its thanks to T. O. Gilliland, his driver and Marion Sensenbrenner for their assistance in preparing the float for the Armistice Day parade.

A bulletin from State Headquarters on Rehabilitation was read and it was voted to contribute to this worthy cause.

A lunch was served after the meeting under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Petts. Mrs. H. D. Jackson was named chairman of the lunch committee for the December meeting.

DINNER CELEBRATES WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Edgington, S. Court-st., entertained at a six o'clock dinner at their home Monday evening honoring Mrs. Edgington's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Fitzpatrick, on their twenty-fourth wedding anniversary.

The affair was a pleasant surprise for the honor guests, who were presented with a lovely gift by the host and hostess.

Covers for the dinner were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Fitzpatrick, Miss Sally Fitzpatrick, George Fitzpatrick, Fred Fitzpatrick, Miss Jean Fitzpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Liston and Mr. and Mrs. Edgington.

Johnson Has Machinery For Cracking Down on Code Violators

WASHINGTON — General Hugh Johnson is quietly working on a new plan for cracking down on code violators.

The present system of local compliance boards is to be amplified. Under the new machinery—soon to be announced—a federal officer in each community will be especially designated to supervise code enforcement. The compliance boards will act as investigation agents.

The long-threatened halting of a big code violator into court is getting closer.

Consumer Protection

A hot, secret battle is raging in the inner council of the Agricultural Department over consumer protection.

Dr. Frederick C. Howe, liberal Consumers' Counsel is demanding that a provision be inserted in the master food industries code fixing specified grades and standards for all consumers' goods. J. D. Dole, brother of the pineapple canner, and chief of the Food Products Section, is opposed. Secretary Wallace and the Brain Trust line up with Howe.

Dole contends the canners and food manufacturers will not accept a code containing such a clause. Howe says it is not a question of what they will accept, but what is in the best interest of the public.

On the Spot

Big Jim Farley is on the spot.

Holy Joe McKee's defeat in the New York mayoralty race has sadly impaired Jim's reputation as a political manipulator. Of course, if McKee had won, Jim would be receiving acclaim as a wily strategist.

But McKee did not win, and certain of the President's advisers, who opposed Farley's meddling in the New York situation, are urging that a curb be put on his political operations. According to them, Jim has been doing some quiet intriguing in California and Wisconsin and they want him called off on the ground that if he is not he will pile up a lot of needless trouble for the President among the Progressives, with whom Farley has never been popular.

One Interpretation

"Mr. Secretary," a reporter asked Henry Wallace, "what do you think of the Farmers' Holiday movement?"

"Well, it might be compared to the nerve in an aching tooth."

Ford Agents

Henry Ford may be anathema to the Roosevelt Administration but his ex-representatives are certainly diffused through the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Most prominent among Ford's men are Major C. W. Dunning, Deputy Director of Processing and Marketing in the AAA, and George Carlson, chief of Licensing and Enforcement.

For ten years Carlson was Ford's agent in Vienna. Dunning was assistant. When high tariffs ruined Ford's Austrian business, both men got out. Major Dunning was a great Hoover booster, went to the Republican Convention in Chicago as a Hoover delegate.

With Roosevelt's election he got a job under the New Deal, immediately hired as his subordinate, his ex-chief Carlson.

Power Investigation

The tactics of southern power interests in resisting the Tennessee Valley Authority have aroused President Roosevelt.

At his direction the Federal Trade Commission sent a secret investigator into the region to inquire into power activities. He was under orders to report on a charge that the corporations spent $50,000 in a recent Birmingham, Ala., election to defeat a municipal power proposal.

Knoxville, Tenn., votes on a similar project November 25. Power interests are exerting great effort.

DEFENSE USES LOCAL MEN TO ASSIST AYERS

McCready, Walisa, Kinser and Others Attack Smith's Veracity.

TRIAL NEARS END

John Ayers' Reputation Lauded by Local Men

Circleville residents held the center of the Ross-co stage, Monday, when the defense got under way in the trial of John Ayers, former Circleville man, who is charged with the first degree murder of John Slone Bentley in the courts of that county.

The defense attempted to show that Ayers was of good character and the David Smith, formerly of Ross-co now of near Ashville, who is apparently the state's star witness, bears an unsavory reputation for truth and veracity.

Indications today were that the trial would possibly be completed by Wednesday afternoon.

McCready CALLED

Principal witnesses questioned Monday included:

Officer William McCready, who said he had known David Smith for 10 or 12 years and that Smith's reputation for truth and veracity was poor. He said Ayers' was good.

James H. Kinser, who told practically the same thing as McCready. The state brought out testimony that Kinser had once been convicted of assault and battery of his wife.

Roy Walisa, who admitted his business was "selling machines and whiskey," who said Ayers' reputation was good and Smith's was bad.

Elmer Carper, Hocking-co; Samuel Van Gundy, Fairfield-co; Ross Conrad, Adelpi; Sam Pontious, Kinderhook; Jacob Arbaugh, Vinton-co; B. C. Britton, Harrison-twp; Ross-co; Mrs. Laura Kinser, this city; George Butterbaugh and Ben Tople, both of Ross-co, all testified to Ayers' peacefulness and to Smith's failure to follow the truth.

VARIOUS MOTIVES

Attempts were made by the defense attorneys, L. M. Day and Frank Redfern, to paint the deceased Bentley as a vicious man while at the same time showing Ayers to be a peace-loving individual.

The state's attorneys countered by attacking the reputations of some of the witnesses used by the defense.

PLAY WILL ASSIST NEEDY CHILDREN

School Leaders Meet and Decide To Stage Home-Talent Production.

Selection of a cast was started today after superintendents of various township schools met in the office of Supt. D. L. Buchanan, Monday evening, to make plans for a home-talent play, the proceeds from which will go to benefit needy school children.

Committees from various groups are expected to assist in the work.

The show will be presented in the Grand Opera House here on Dec. 6 and 8 and will also be presented in Ashville two nights, and in New Holland two nights.

Miss Betty Bonson, of Kenosha, Wis., of the Universal Producing Co., will direct the show which will be entitled "The World's All Right."

BUDGET COMMITTEE BEGINS MEETINGS

All Taxing Districts To Be Given Hearings; Few Changes Expected.

The Pickaway-co budget commission comprised of Treasurer Earl Hoffman, Auditor Clifford White and Prosecutor Ray W. Davis was in session, Tuesday, conducting hearings on tax rates for all the county's township, school, corporation and village districts.

The commission will also be in session Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week and Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday next week.

It is predicted very few changes, if any, will be made in the rates of the various districts.

Each taxing district will be given a hearing.

RIGHT-OF-WAY BIG QUESTION

City-County To Divide Cost of Land Over Which To Construct W. Main-St.

The question of a right-of-way for the reconstruction of W. Main-st between the Norfolk & Western tracks and the Scioto river bridge was believed nearing a solution, Tuesday, after E. S. Neuding and Clark Will, members of city council, met with the county commissioners, Monday.

The state has approved construction of the highway to eliminate the curve which now goes around the vacant Colonial Carriage Co. building. In order to follow the plans and specifications it is necessary to purchase the property which belongs to J. I. Smith, this city; J. R. Hedges, Ashville, and Ed Hedges, Columbus, brothers of Mayor B. T. Hedges.

The figure asked by the three men for the property was not disclosed by the councilmen but it was higher than the city and county want to pay. The offer of the commissioners and city council combined was to be transmitted to the Hedges brothers by Mr. Smith, who attended the meeting. It is quite a lot lower than that asked for the property.

The commissioners have agreed to divide the cost of the right-of-way with the city, it was reported, whatever that cost might be.

The project is under the federal public works program and the government does not bother with obtaining right-of-ways, leaving that to the interested communities. The cash for the job which will be financed by the government and supervised by the state highway department has already been allocated and the contract for the right-of-way is the only thing preventing the work being done at an early date.

LANCASTER'S GAS RATE IS 40 CENTS

Votes Five Cent Reduction; Has Enough City Gas To Run 9 Months.

A five cent reduction in gas rates for domestic consumers was in effect today in Lancaster as a result of action of that city's council Monday night.

An ordinance cutting the rate per thousand cubic feet from 40 cents to 35 cents was adopted and is effective immediately.

The reduction is the second in only a few months' time.

Lancaster buys from the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. three months of the year and produces enough fuel from its 175 municipally-owned wells to operate the other nine.

The local gas, all of which comes from the Ohio Fuel Co., costs approximately 6 cents per thousand cubic feet.

JOHNSON PLEADED WITH NRA IN WEST

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 14.—Reporting that everywhere operations of the National Recovery Act have exceeded all expectations, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national administrator, prepared to return to Washington today.

He wound up a week's speaking tour of the west with an address here last night. Citizens have hailed the Recovery act as "The People's Law," he said he had found.

PALMER, FARM LEADER, RAPS STRIKE, QUILTS

Pataskala Man Pleads With Ohio Farmers To Be "Good Citizens."

LEADER 10 YEARS

Takes Issue With Price-Fixing Program

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14.—Although taking issue with governmental price-fixing programs, Lee B. Palmer, of Pataskala, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau, today pleaded for Ohio farmers to be "good loyal citizens and give our best support to the administration program."

Addressing the opening session of the two-day meeting of the farm bureau here, Palmer rapped farm strike movements such as are being carried on in western states.

"Being on the defensive and objecting to what the government has to offer through the NRA or the Agriculture Adjustment Act, or the national farm or home loan credit program will not bring the desired results," he declared.

Miss Mary Shortridge, Jackson-twp, and Edward Kreisel, Pickaway-twp, are attending the meeting as delegates from the Pickaway-co Farm Bureau. Marvin Stealy, Washington-twp, secretary of the farm bureau, is also present.

LAST MESSAGE

Palmer's remarks before the bureau convention was considered significant in view of the fact that they were taken as his last executive message.

Yesterday, Palmer notified the board of trustees of the farm bureau that he intends to retire. In announcing his decision to step aside, Palmer said he believed 10 years at the head of the farm bureau were enough.

Speculation was free today as to the likely successor of Palmer. Numerous names have been mentioned but the actual selection will not take place until Thursday at a meeting of the board.

While urging cooperation with the federal government's program, Palmer took issue with the plan of government price-fixing.

"It is unfair for the government to guarantee or assist in securing operating costs plus a margin of profit for invested capital for those engaged in distribution of manufactured or other commodities and for organized labor without giving those engaged in agriculture the same protection," he said.

He declared that the value of the commodity dollar "must be stabilized for all alike."

F. R. D. SEEKING HELP FOR U. S.

Wants Soviet To Protect American Workers; Cites Propaganda.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—An understanding for the protection of Americans who may work in Russia and for control of communist propaganda in this country was being sought by President Roosevelt today as a prerequisite to American recognition of the Soviet union.

This was learned in an authoritative quarter as the Russo-American discussions emerged from the technical phase of exchanging views to the stage of bargaining.

The president, it was said, is seeking an understanding with Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet foreign commissar, to prevent the kind of trouble encountered by other countries after they recognized the Soviets.

In the case of Great Britain, which was the chief sufferer, these difficulties centered around the arrest of British nationals in Russia on espionage charges and communist propaganda activities in England. The latter caused an actual rupture of relations in 1927 and the former the virtual recall of the British ambassador from Moscow early this year, followed by economic warfare.

AL MEETS FDR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—President Roosevelt today was to meet Alfred E. Smith in the White House.

The meeting was to go down as a momentous one, even if, as friends of the president insist, it should be only a friendly chat. After all, it has been quite a spell since these two have sat down together for anything of that sort.

Welfare Chief

DAVID S. INGALLS, Republican nominee for governor of Ohio a year ago, who has been appointed welfare director of Cleveland in the cabinet of Former Governor Harry L. Davis, who was sworn into office today. Ingalls served two years in the legislature, is a member of the Cleveland NRA Compliance board and was assistant secretary of the Navy in the Hoover cabinet. Davis succeeds Ray Miller as mayor.

WINTER FALLS OVER COUNTY

Nearly Two Inches of Snow As Mercury Drops To 26-Degree Mark.

Winter laid a heavy hand on Circleville and central Ohio today, leaving the ground covered with a layer of snow and the temperature at a low mark. Mercury dropped to the 26-degree mark at 7 a.m. Tuesday but was up to 35 at noon, Dr. H. R. Clarke, weather observer, announced.

Streets and highways were glazed with ice covering and utmost precautions were ordered in an effort to reduce accidents.

The new cold wave struck this section of the state after a brief spell of mild weather.

Snow here totaled one and one-half inches Tuesday morning.

Court May Rule On Mayor Fight In Fayette City

Election Board's Flip of Coin Names Curtin, But Worrell Protests.

WASHINGTON C. H., Nov. 15.—The courts may have to decide who this city's mayor will be. The board of elections flipped a coin Monday to settle a tie and Peter H. Curtin has been declared the next mayor as the result of the toss but Mayor Peter Worrell is not satisfied.

Worrell is expected to demand a recount of the vote within the next five days.

He declared before the coin was tossed that he would not be a party to the game of chance and Curtin declared the same thing. Now it's up to Worrell to take action.

REPORT IRREGULARITIES

Officials are not certain whether the mayor will ask a recount of one precinct, several precincts, or all precincts. There have been rumors of a number of alleged irregularities.

Saturday both candidates had announced their intention of contesting the election, Curtin claiming the election by two votes and Worrell by the least one. Curtin declared that two absent voters' ballots which had been ordered by the secretary of state were illegal and should not be included in the count. Worrell indicated that claims of non-resident voters and persons under age voting would probably be protested when the contest was launched.

Justus Is Justus But Not Justice

Willard Justus, well known Jackson-twp man, Monday denied that he had been elected justice of the peace of his township at last Tuesday's election.

"Our township has no justice of the peace," Mr. Justus said "and I am not a candidate for the job."

He said he believed enough of his friends had as a joke written his name into the ballot enough times to have him named. "If I was elected I would not make an effort to qualify," Mr. Justus declared.

EARLY OPERATION OF OHIO LIQUOR LAW SEEN AS COMMITTEES GATHER

Physician Predicts Cure For Tuberculosis Near

SHELTON, Conn., Nov. 14.—Details of experiments extending over a quarter of a century and so portentous as to tempt the prediction that "a cure for tuberculosis is in sight," today lay before 1,800 physicians who assembled here to listen to Dr. Stephen J. Maher, internationally famed authority on tuberculosis, describe how he has transformed tested strains of tubercle bacilli into harmless cocci and diplococci.

The title of his paper, "The Progeny of the Tubercle Bacillus," Dr. Maher told his audience, might flipperily read "How to Coax Tubercle Bacilli to Commit Suicide."

From an original strain of tubercle bacilli obtained in 1908 from the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Maher said, he made sub-cultures in which he found a few months later cocci and diplococci mixed with granular bacilli of the dread "white plague."

Using a glycerine broth flask culture of tubercle, Dr. Maher related, he was able, by adding 30 per cent of sterile milk to the flask and putting it in a room temperature for ten days, to cause the development of tiny cocci and diplococci that seemed to "come from the granules and beads of exploded tubercle bacilli." The latter, he said, had diminished in number and those remaining had lost the granules they contained before the addition of the milk.

Advisors Hope Plan Can Be Ready For Solons.

SESSION DEC. 6.

Secrecy Is Key-Note Of Conferences.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14.—Still cloaking its deliberations in utmost secrecy, the governor's liquor advisory commission today was to resume sessions out of which will come recommendations for the taxation and sale of intoxicants.

According to Benedict Crowell, Cleveland, chairman, the commission will remain in session until it has formulated its program. Gov. George White has asked that it be ready no later than next week.

To date the commission has made no report on its program, and the present session was to be behind closed doors as have been all previous meetings.

No announcement was forthcoming as to when, if at all, the group will confer with the Ackerman senate liquor committee, which has been conducting its own hearings on liquor control proposals in various sections of the state.

GROUPS MAY CONFEE

Individual members of the governor's advisory board expressed a desire to meet with the senate committee, but no date has been set, although only a short time remains before the recommendations must be handed to White.

Actual work of drawing up the measures will be in the hands of Sen. H. G. Mosier, (D.) Cleveland; Carlton S. Daugherty, tax commissioner, and Attorney Charles Laylin, tax expert. Senator Mosier thought that drafting of the proposed laws would begin next week.

It was also his belief that the proposals would be framed as transition measures to insure their immediate operation as soon as approved by the legislature.

LICENSES FAVORED

He reported increased sentiment in favor of the state setting up its own stores for distribution of liquor. The governor, however, favors licensing of independent retailers.

The repeal session of the general assembly convenes here on Dec. 6, to repeal existing prohibition enforcement laws and to enact liquor control legislation.

Services Held This Afternoon In Marietta For Accident Victim.

NOTABLES ATTEND

Another Son To Be Wed In East Friday.

MARIETTA, Nov. 14.—Beside his mother, who died five years ago, 21-year-old Robert White, son of Gov. George White, was laid to rest here today.

Funeral services for the youth, victim of an automobile accident at Belle Mead, N. J., near Princeton, where he was a senior student, were held at 2:30 p. m. today. The body arrived this morning from the eastern city.

Gov. White, his daughter, Miss Mary Louise White, the state's first lady, and his son, George Jr., drove here from Columbus last night to attend the funeral.

Rites were conducted at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. McCoy, lifelong friends of the White family. Interment and private services were held at Oak Grove cemetery here.

TO ATTEND WEDDING

Tomorrow official business will take the state executive to Washington, and on Friday he will attend the marriage of his son, George Jr., and Miss Carolyn Lawrence, in Summit, N. J. Only the immediate families will attend the ceremony, in which Robert White was to have participated as best man.

Hundreds of friends sent telegrams to the family expressing condolence. Alfred E. Smith, President Dodge of Princeton university, Former Governor James M. Cox, Archbishop John T. McNicholas of Cincinnati, and Jonett Shouse were among the nationally prominent figures who conveyed their sympathies to the governor.

Many state officials arrived here for the funeral from Columbus, where all state offices were closed during the time of the services. A number of students from Princeton also were present.

The Ohio Senate and House of Representatives each were represented by a committee of members.

ACE, WIFE MAY FLY ATLANTIC

Believe Lindbergh, Now In Spain, Planning Flight By Way of Azores.

HORTA, Azores, Nov. 14.—The suggestion was voiced here today that Col. and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh, who are now in Europe, may return to the United States by way of the Azores to study winter flying conditions in the south Atlantic.

An official of the pan-American airways visited the Azores this summer to study conditions at landing fields and seaports in the islands.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh already have made an intensive study of flying conditions in the north Atlantic.

They flew from the United States to Europe by way of Greenland, Iceland, the Faroe Islands and the Shetland Islands, spending considerable time at each place surveying suitable spots for landing places in anticipation of establishments of a regular commercial air route by way of the Arctic regions.

TRIAL CONTINUES

The trial of Etta Davis, 279 Dakota-ave, Columbus, against J. H. Wright, Kingston, for $9,850 damages as the result of an automobile wreck, was progressing slowly today with possibilities that the case would go over to Wednesday.

Witnesses subpoenaed by the two sides include A. F. Stout, of Columbus, and Fernald Tisdale, of London, for the plaintiff. E. E. Clifton, R. B. Riffel, Lyman Riffel, Mrs. L. R. Riffel, Harold Pontious, Frank Valentine and Mrs. J. Harry Wright.

Trial of the suit of Sheldon Steele, Columbus, against Mr. Wright, will follow disposition of the Davis suit.

BONDS APPROVED

The county commissioners, Tuesday, approved the $50,000 bond of the Citizens Banking Co., Ashville, which bank is to handle $50,000 worth of the county's inactive funds.

The Scioto Banking Co., Commercial Point, put up $5,000 in treasury notes for the $5,000 inactive fund it is to handle.

ACE, WIFE MAY FLY ATLANTIC

Believe Lindbergh, Now In Spain, Planning Flight By Way of Azores.

HORTA, Azores, Nov. 14.—The suggestion was voiced here today that Col. and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh, who are now in Europe, may return to the United States by way of the Azores to study winter flying conditions in the south Atlantic.

An official of the pan-American airways visited the Azores this summer to study conditions at landing fields and seaports in the islands.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh already have made an intensive study of flying conditions in the north Atlantic.

They flew from the United States to Europe by way of Greenland, Iceland, the Faroe Islands and the Shetland Islands, spending considerable time at each place surveying suitable spots for landing places in anticipation of establishments of a regular commercial air route by way of the Arctic regions.

U. S. Distillers Oppose Wallace

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—America's newly legalized liquor industry, feverishly active in preparation for actual repeal next Dec. 5, today looked forward with some misgivings to the prospect of a political dry and a "teetotaler" as its probable czar.

Spoken for by the distillery-interests are grumbling at the rigid restrictions which Secretary of Agriculture Wallace seeks to impose through a grain market.

Kipke's Record One Of Finest

By JOHN C. HOFFMAN
International News Service Sports
Writer.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Sixteen straight victories. Thirty-one triumphs in 39 starts. Four defeats in 39 games. Three consecutive Big Ten conference championships; possibly a fourth this fall. That would sound like the achievements of a Rockne, a Ship Madigan or a Doc Spears. But it isn't. It's the record of Michigan football since Harry G. Kipke took the team away from Tad Wieman in 1929. It's the record of a young man who quietly and efficiently plods his methodical way through football seasons without the bluster and dancing in the streets customarily attending the accomplishments of less capable coaches.

USES OWN SYSTEM
At 33, Kipke is one of the most successful coaches in the country. In the blaring of trumpets anent such coaching luminaries as Madigan, Spears, "Pop" Warner and old man Stagg, perhaps we hear too little about Kipke, as yet, he has no system named after him, but the theory that systems make touchdowns is now pretty well established as not even a good grade of hokum.

Watching Kipke-coached teams, one gets flashes of what is known as the Rockne system, the Warner method and the Minnesota procedure. But, in reality, Kipke does his own thinking.

In his playing days Kipke was one of the greatest kickers of the game as well as an all-around athlete of note. He could boot a long punt out of bounds at will. Kipke went to Michigan in 1920. During his career there he earned nine major letters. In his second year he was an all-American halfback and in 1923 he captained the squad.

Following graduation, he was assistant coach at Missouri, returning to Michigan in 1923 as assistant coach in basketball and football. In 1928 he was made head coach at Michigan state.

MEET MINNESOTA
Two conference games remain for the Wolverines before they can claim the Big Ten championship—Minnesota and Chicago. Indicative of what the Gophers can expect of what the Wolverines when they meet Michigan is the fact that Minnesota has never beaten Michigan under Kipke in four tries.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 14.—Kim Whitehead, halfback, and Ed Nichols, guard, will be out of action for several more days but will be ready for the Harvard game, it was reported today. Yale will put tickets for the public for the Princeton game on sale next week.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 14.—Intensive drill for the Navy game Saturday was on tap today. Coach Crisler planned special work for the backfield on passing. Crisler yesterday said Dartmouth was the best team Princeton has met this year.

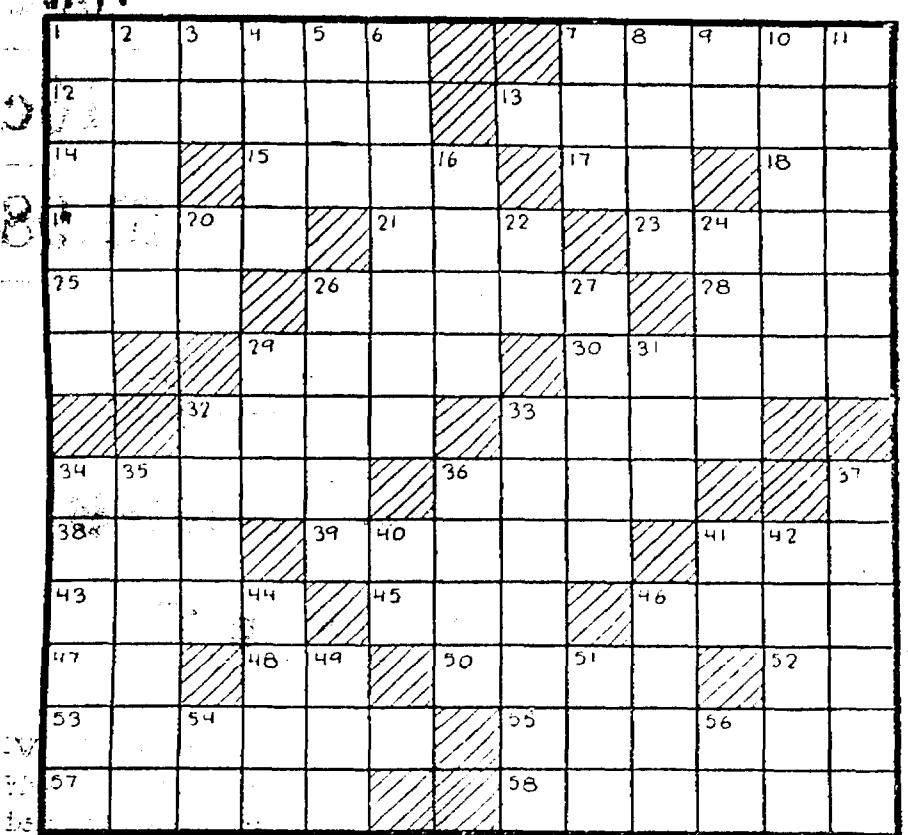

MILLER TO MEET TITLE OPPONENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Freddie Miller, holder of the National Boxing Association featherweight championship, will defend his title against Lew Feldman in a feature bout of ten rounds tonight. The title affair will mark Miller's return to the east, having not fought here since the night of Dec. 11, 1931, when he gained the judges' decision over the same Feldman in an eight-round semifinal to the Bat Battalino-Al Singer battle in the garden. The semi-final is expected to supply plenty of fireworks, with Billy Hogan, undefeated upstart, tackling Wesley Ramey, of Grand Rapids, recent conqueror of Tony Ganzoneri, then lightweight champion, in a non-title affair.

OHIO BOBCATS, CINCINNATI TO VIE SATURDAY

Buckeye Conference Outcome May Hinge On This Week's Battle.

ATHENS, Nov. 14.—With the path cleared of Saturday's football obstructions for Ohio University and Cincinnati, all indications point to a terrific collision of the two grid machines when they meet in Nippert Stadium, Saturday. The classic battle of the 'Cats may possibly decide the claimant of the 1933 Buckeye Conference football crown, though Ohio must face Ohio Wesleyan and the Bearcats will meet Miami following the encounter in Cincinnati Saturday. The 20th meeting of the two teams, however, will break the present deadlock for first place in the Buckeye league.

Both universities will be celebrating special occasions when the Bearcat-Bobcat fracas is staged. Dad's Day will be observed by the entertaining university, while Ohio will come to Cincinnati on its annual Migration Day trek. A special train will bring the Bobcat Band and a small army of supporters.

LAST FOR SEVEN

The contest with the Bearcat eleven, one of the strongest produced by Cincinnati University, will mark the final away-from-home tilt for seven of Ohio's senior gridriders. Although Coach Don Peden has greater reserve strength this season than ever before, these men will be conspicuous by their absence when the teams meet again next year. Cincinnati's impressive record this fall is receiving the most serious consideration by Ohio's coaching staff. The Bobcat "brain trust" believes that the Bearcats are even a more serious threat this season than last when they came to Athens with a record of nine straight victories.

DODGERS IN LEAD WITH AIR TOSSES

Pass New York and Green Bay; Chicago Bears Lead Loop; Spartans Next.

The Brooklyn Dodgers by completing half their passes against Pittsburgh have taken a clear cut lead in forward passing in the National Football league. The Dodgers by completing 50 in 104 for an average of 18 per cent passed New York and Green Bay in aerial efficiency.

Boston continues the best offensive team with 2152 yards gained in nine games, while Green Bay has the best defensive mark with only 1338 yards gained through their line in nine games. The New York Giants hold a commanding lead as point getters with 167, while Portsmouth in eight games has yielded only 12 points.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 14.—With the prospect of meeting the east's two unbeaten teams, Princeton and Army—on successive Saturdays, Head Coach Miller planned to handle his squad carefully to avoid injuries. Therefore, no bruising scrimmage was in prospect today as the team tackled Princeton formations.

About THIS and THAT

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

ALL persons interested in the football game will be urged to be at the Circleville Athletic club gymnasium Thursday at 8 p. m. to "hash out" the question of whether there shall be independent basketball played at the Club this year.

The question of finances of course, is the chief one. Club must be assured of sufficient revenue to fire furnaces for heating the gym, to pay water bills, and to pay light bills which mount when the gymnasium is lighted. Just what solution will finally be worked out is questionable.

The matter, however, has gone far enough that it is believed an offer will be made by Club leaders to anyone who wants to play independent basketball. Whether the Club will consider backing the team is unknown.

An unofficial report that the high school had offered the club $7 a night for the use of the gym was scoffed at by Club leaders. It was not so many years ago

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. The

Fordham team will start an intensive drive today for the football game with Oregon state at the Polo grounds Saturday. Johnny Del Isola, star center, whose nose was broken in the N. Y. U. battle, will don a special noseguard and play.

If his buying keeps, Uncle Sam soon should have enough gold to pay the Nez Perce Indians the wagonload of yellow metal they are interested attend the meeting, say he promised them in 1885.

ing agreement and a code of fair competition.

WALLACE IN CHARGE
Wallace, politically and personally arid, is tentatively slated to serve as the administration officer in charge of code enforcement for the distillers.

Under provisions to which the liquor manufacturers already have agreed, and additional restrictions favored by the administration, he may exercise truly czaristic power. Part of this power he will probably delegate to Farm Administrator George N. Peek, who favored repeal and is not averse to a drink now and then.

Public hearings on the distillers' marketing agreement and code have been delayed by Wallace's absence. A lively undercover wrangle is being waged between the distillers and the administration.

Another astonishing thing is the amount of ignorance a hard head can accumulate in 40 years.

Farm Chiselers

FROM the wheat growers has come some of the most caustic criticism of the national recovery program and its administrators, so one assumes that these critics, more than all others, are doing their part. Another false assumption.

Under the Agricultural Adjustment Administration the government promises to pay the wheat growers a bonus and the growers promise the government to reduce their acreage by 15 per cent. The government, which the people, is carrying out its part of the agreement. What of the farmer?

Three statistical agencies have been checking up on the progress made in acreage reduction. One reports a curtailment of 1.1 per cent. Another of 6 per cent. The third, 10 per cent. Illinois has actually increased its acreage, while Kansas, Ohio, Oklahoma, Texas and Montana have not brought their down the requisite 15 per cent.

Farmers are evading the AAA by planting new land in wheat. For every acre turned into some other crop by one farmer a fraction of an acre is turned into wheat by his neighbor who did not raise wheat last year. The purpose of these chiselers is to take advantage of the expected high prices and next year's bonus.

Although the act may not expressly forbid it, the intent was that no new ground be planted in wheat until the present surplus is consumed. The government may be powerless to checkmate these chiselers but the consumers, upon whom the bonus falls, can deal with them. Here is a job for those who believe in fair dealing.

Doctors who advise folks how to live long probably include in the instructions "stay off the highways."

Destiny!

WESTERVILLE, Ohio,—home of the Anti-Saloon League—remains dry—bone dry.

That solves the very serious problem of finding a sanctuary for the disappointed dries.

Now Henry Ford, who once said he would not make cars in a drinking country, need not remove the remainder of his factories into Canada, England and Germany.

Mrs. Henry W. (Flag or Flask) Peabody, of the Women's National Committee for Law (Prohibition) Enforcement, is spared the ignominy of being a lady without a country. A year or two ago she departed from her home in Massachusetts because she couldn't live in wet territory.

Westerville will also offer a haven for bootleggers who will find unprofitable competition with the legitimate liquor trade elsewhere.

In time this Ohio town of 2800 population may become a more or less living museum to prohibition, where the antiquarian may find specimens of the bootlegger, home brew and moonshine. Who knows but what that is Westerville's destiny!

The ancient expression, "sound and fury," is just highbrow for the modern talkies and critics.

Every community has at least one family whose members have no skill at anything except winning law suits.

The folks who said repeal would never come should have taken a leaf from the experience of the folks who said prohibition would never come.

THAT'S MY BOY!

by FRANCIS WALLACE
AUTHOR OF "HUDDLE"

SYNOPSIS

The colorful career of "Big Jeff" Randolph, now a national football hero, has been traced from his humble home in tiny Athens, a mid-west factory town, through high school gridiron stardom that made him a magnet for scouts from big colleges and through two years of backfield glory as a superstar at Thorndyke, rich and historic eastern university. He's the idol of fandom, the pet of society, the envy of back-home neighbors, and "my boy" to his adoring Mom and Pop. To the former, he's still her little Tommy and to father, well—Tom's manners and clothes annoy the veteran glassworker who secretly, however, rates his boy on a par with Pop's supreme political favorite, Al Smith. Before Thorndyke had put a high hat sort of halo on him, Tommy's best girl was Dorothy Whitney, daughter of the richest and most important citizen in Athens. But in New York, Tommy has met Elaine Winthrop, society artist and daughter of a Wall Street magnate. To Tommy spends most of the summer as a assistant at a boys' camp and becomes greater than ever in the early season games of his senior year. Everyone's talkin' of Thorndyke's coming game with "the Yales". . . . Times are getting hard, but Mom doesn't worry much about Tommy, thinking of Elaine and her Wall Street father; she also thinks of Dorothy.

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

Sometimes Mom couldn't help wondering about Dorothy and if she wasn't sorry she had been so snippy. She and Tommy weren't exactly mad; they spoke and all that; but he hadn't gone to see her when he was home in the summer. Cousin Emmy said they had run into each other one night at the Sugar Bowl and had talked real nice but were kind of strange like each one was afraid to take the lead. Mom couldn't say anything against Dorothy herself; she was always real nice with Mom and was certainly a pretty girl and always came home with the latest styles from over east; and she had a crowd around her house all the time although they said she was still going steady with the boy from Smithville. Mom saw him with her one night. He was all right enough but was kind of short and stumpy-like. Mom liked big men. Like Pop—and Charlie Whitney. Uncle Louis was kind of thin and scrawny and was getting hump-backed. Pat Flannigan and even Cousin Emmy's man were big, too. Mrs. Johnson's Hen was better than the banty rooster across the street.

"Well," said Jerry Randall, "it's the kid's last game."

"How about the Tournament of Roses?" Charlie Whitney asked.

"No sense," said Jerry, "I have a feeling that the Bulldog is mad."

"It'll be a football game," Charlie agreed.

It was—although at the beginning it looked like another personally conducted tour of triumph led by the great Jeff Randolph. Randolph kicked off and went down to tackle Harlow on the Eli 12-yard line. In two plays Harlow made five yards and then kicked to Barton. The Thorndyke quarterback, who was down on his 10-yard line, in attacking territory, however.

"Now—let's go," Charlie called. Dorothy gazed at him fondly. Her Dad was a boy again at these games; for this much was she thankful to Tommy Randolph.

The attack was slow starting. Yale linemen piled up two plays; then they became too anxious and were off-side twice and Thorndyke was in Eli territory without half-trying. Luck continued with the Pilgrims. Tommy made six yards at center and an incomplete pass was ruled complete because of interference for a first down on the 28-yard line.

Yale was flustered and indecisive now. The Thorndyke attack clicked. Randolph and Barton alternated, carried the ball to the seven-yard line as the Pilgrim stands roared. With fourth and two to go, Tommy pounded through the middle for five yards and a first down on the three-yard line.

"What was that about the Bulldog?" Charlie asked.

Jerry shook his head. Dorothy almost believed he wanted Yale to win. Dorothy didn't care much—but it was Tommy's last game.

"Touchdown!" the Pilgrim crowd called loudly.

Tommy bowed into the line. It piled up. The white-shirted referee piled into the crowd, came up with the ball, waved his arm frantically toward the Thorndyke goal. It was Yale's ball.

"Humm—Tom's not a fumbler!" Charlie Whitney said.

Harlow kicked out on the first down. Barton returned 24 yards, diagonally, for a first down on the 16-yard line.

"We'll get it now," Charlie said confidently.

But they didn't get it. In four plays Randolph and Barton gained nine yards. Yale's ball again.

"And that," said Jerry Randall, "is what the sport writers refer to as the great blue wail."

Charlie said nothing. Dorothy felt he was slightly annoyed at Jerry's attitude toward his own team. She was slightly annoyed herself.

This time Harlow didn't kick at once—he faked a kick and ran nine yards around the end. Working to get out of the hole the Yale quarterback mixed his plays cleverly—even tried a short pass deep in his own territory—and he moved his team up to the 40-yard line before he had to punt. It was a good punt. Harlow kicked and bounded outside on the Thorndyke 17-yard line. The period ended.

"Well!" Charlie Whitney mused. "Did I say this was going to be a football game?"

Neither side could gain effectively. The Yale line, encouraged by its two stands at the goal stripe, threw back the Pilgrim forwards and pounced upon Randolph before he could get started. The stalwart Thorndyke line was equally stubborn on defense. Then Harlow was hurried, got off a short punt and Thorndyke had first down on the Yale 42.

"Now we'll go—come on, Tom!" Charlie called.

Tom tried. He made eight yards in three plays. He had to kick and it was out on the 50-yard line. Harlow tried two plays but was stopped—and punted to midfield.

This time Barton gambled. He faked an end run and then threw a long pass down the middle; Randolph was leading it and started back to catch the ball—but Verger, Eli halfback, came across the field, beat Tom to it with a leaping catch and Yale was again out of the hole with first down on its 33-yard line.

In three plays the vibrant Bulldogs had a first down in midfield but a penalty threw them back to their 25. Then Harlow got off a long, bounding punt that rolled to the sideline, away from Barton, and out of bounds on the Pilgrim 23-yard line.

"I told you the Bulldog was mad," Jerry observed.

Again Barton gambled—he called a quick kick from running formation, but Verger, smelling the play, darted back, caught it on the fly and prevented the roll which is the virtue of the play—and Yale had first down on its 44. In three plays they were into Pilgrim territory; then Harlow kicked out of bounds on the Thorndyke 12-yard line.

"And so," observed Jerry, "our backs are to the wall."

"You seem to like it," Dorothy observed.

"No—but I can't seem to work up much of a passion against this threat to the fair name of dear old Thorndyke."

Barton tried a running play to get out of the hole but fumbled; Randolph recovered on the 11-yard line. This time he punted high and far to the Yale 48.

"Good boy Tom!" Charlie said quietly. Dorothy wanted to pat his hand. She felt grateful to Tom Randolph for the moment—in a manner he was pinch-hitting for her. Regardless of what he really thought, it was plain to Dorothy that, in his secret heart, that was Charlie Whitney's son out there on the field.

"Come on, Tommy!" she called.

But Tommy got no chance. Yale suddenly threw off its fetters and got hot. A 12-yard gain by Verger; a 25-yard pass on first down, fooling Tommy Randolph himself; two yards; seven yards in a twisting dash by Harlow—Verger again for five and a first down on the four-yard line; no gain and a fervent Thorndyke cheer—then the center of the line opened and Harlow bounced far into the end zone for a touchdown.

Appalled by the suddenness of it, Dorothy said nothing. Jerry's pursed lips were hard to fathom. Charlie was somewhat bewildered and a bit downcast. Dorothy had never seen much emotion in her father in the normal course of life. It was a bit odd that it took a football game and one of his employee's children to make her feel pity for her Dad.

Tommy was lined up under the goal posts.

It was, Dorothy realized, the first time she had ever caught him in an attitude of defeat.

Tommy was straining against it, fighting mad; talking to his men. The whistle blew and they swarmed out to block the kick but it went over their up-stretched arms. The score was Yale 7, Thorndyke 0.

"Well," said Dorothy, "have you worked up any passion yet?"

She was half-inclined to pounce upon him; Jerry was entirely too faithful to the college tradition of nonchalance; there were times when even a gentleman must be stirred.

"I feel inkles," he confessed.

"After all—"

In a very few minutes Jerry felt more than inkles. Harlow kicked off over the end zone. Thorndyke put the ball in play on the 20-yard line—and on the first play the zinging Yale linemen crashed through the Thorndyke line as through wet blotting paper and nailed Tom for a nine-yard loss. There was nothing to do but punt. Tom placed his men for protection, dropped far back and, though hurried by the uproarious Bulldogs, got off high kick to the Thorndyke 43-yard line.

There the snaky Verger caught it, seemed trapped by the two Thorndyke ends but eluded them and was off through the filtered field on a ricocheting course that quickly brought him past the nine Thorndyke men who had gone down under the punt; only Barton, the last blocker, and Tom Randolph were in his path—he skinned by Barton with the speed of a nervous oel. Randolph got him from the side and barely held to his toe as the slippery Eli wriggled. He had returned 22 yards to the 12-yard line. Another touchdown seemed imminent.

The teams lined up—but before the ball could be passed the gun sounded which ended the half.

General Electric's Gerard Swope has revised his plan for industrial control to replace the NRA.

The outburst of criticism that greeted his scheme was not lost on him. As canny a politician as he is a business man, the short dynamic industrialist, in his modified plan, gives both government and labor representation, but—here is the rub—industry would still be supreme.

I. G. Dayton, Ohio—General Hermann Goering's violent hatred for Communists is attributed in German quarters to an incident that occurred shortly after the Armistice. They surrounded him, tore off his epauletts and decorations, and slapped his face. He has never forgotten or forgiven this affront.

Neglect of Malnutrition In Childhood Dangerous

It Causes Many Cases of Poor Health, Faulty Physical Development in Adult Life

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

A RECENT announcement of the United States public health service is unusually interesting. It states that the majority of cases of poor health and faulty physical development in adult life can be traced to neglect of under-nourishment or underweight, so commonly seen in early childhood.

This state of health, known as "malnutrition," is more prevalent than most parents suspect. It is found in the country districts as well as in the city. Contrary to the common belief, it affects the children of the rich as well as the poor. It may begin in very early infancy and continue throughout childhood.

The Symptoms

The stricken child is below normal weight and does not gain as rapidly as his playmates or children of the same age. The youngster is usually pale, thin and listless, has dark rings under the eyes, tires easily and has no desire for work or play. The sleep is fitful and rarely refreshing.

Malnutrition should always be suspected in a child who does not eat well, sleep well and gain weight. Bear in mind that properly nourished children between the ages of six and ten should gain about five pounds a year. A child between twelve and sixteen should gain between six and ten pounds a year. Of course, there are marked variations from this rule, but it may well be that the child who gains less than these figures is suffering from malnutrition.

Malnutrition can be traced to a lack of appetite and a dislike for certain foods. When a child refuses the

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the M. E. church held a very pleasant meeting on Thursday afternoon at the parsonage, the home of Mrs. V. C. Stump with Mrs. Charles Elder and Mrs. Andrew Elder assistant hostesses. Miss Umsted reported that a fine executive meeting was held recently at the home of Mrs. John Dunlap, the district president at which the subject of Stewardship was stressed. Mrs. N. J. Ford is the local Stewardship director.

The Woman's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church will hold a Service of Praise and Thanksgiving on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the lower room of the church. A number of invitations have been distributed. A good attendance is desired.

Mrs. Charles Wright (Esther Yapple) of Chillicothe was the guest of her sister, Mrs. James B. Leist and family on Tuesday.

More than eighty-five friends and members of the Salem M. E. church at Mendon enjoyed a most delightful get together meeting on Thursday evening at the pleasant country home of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Morris. A splendid program was presented as follows, song "Jesus is all the World to Me" with Mrs. G. L. Borders at the piano, prayer by Rev. V. C. Stump pastor of the church, Rev. Stump read the seventy-fifth Psalm with a few appropriate remarks, song "Let Jesus Come Into Your Heart," a musical reading "My Sister's Best Deal" by Mrs. C. L. Bredner with Miss Vivian Bredner accompanying. Mrs. Bredner responded with an encore "The Musical Man." A very interesting and instructive talk on her travels

BROTHERS HELD; TO FACE JURORS

Plead Guilty To Chicken Theft; Ross-Co Couple Fined By Mayor.

Francis and Fred Ryan, brothers of Columbus and Deer Creek twp., respectively, were in the county jail each under $500 bond today after being bound over to the grand jury by Mayor B. T. Hedges for breaking and entering the chicken house of Jerry Williams, Scioto twp., last Friday night.

Williams filed the charges before the mayor Monday and the hearing was conducted late in the afternoon.

Both men pleaded guilty to the charges.

They were discovered taking 43 chickens away by Williams' son who returned to the house, obtained a shotgun and "popped" the rear of the truck they were driving. The Ryans saw Williams coming with the gun and fled leaving the chickens behind.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff and Deputy Bryan Custer were called and after patrolling the roads for a while caught Francis Ryan returning on the Jackson-pk to Columbus after taking his brother home. He confessed his part and implicated his brother.

RANKS PAY FINES

Robert and Loretta Rank, of near Richmondale, left a check of about $50 in the hands of local officials Monday afternoon when they were given hearings on charges of intoxication and destruction of property.

Mayor B. T. Hedges fined Rank $5 and costs and his wife $10 and costs for intoxication and the latter was also fined $15 and costs for destruction of property in the jail. The $15 in the latter case goes to the county to repair a table and window glass she broke after being arrested.

Mr. Rank drove his automobile into the parked car of Herbert Stinson, E. Union-st., Saturday night.

While in Europe by Mrs. May McCullough, she discussed the different beautiful churches and cathedrals of the cities, which she visited. Solo "Just an Old Fashioned Garden," by Mrs. Charles Dreisbach accompanied by Mrs. G. L. Borders, reading "Revising the Ten Commandments," by Mrs. A. W. Brundage, piano duet by Marvin and Irene Pontious, reading "Arminia the Radio Fan" by Miss Anna Pontious, Mrs. V. C. Stump thanked the persons making up the numbers of the program. After a few remarks by Mrs. Stump the Ladies Aid Society of the Salem church served chicken soup, wafers, pickles, pumpkin pie and hot coffee. A thank offering of ten dollars was received.

Miss Kay Retallick of Lebanon, was the guest of Miss Margaret Norris a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kempton and Ralph Westover of Liston were the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Rich, Ralph participated in the track meet held in Columbus on Saturday afternoon.

WIFE OF GANGSTER IS MOVED TO EAST

CINCINNATI, Nov. 14.—Kathryn Kelly, 24-year-old thin-haired wife of George (Machine-Gun) Kelly, who was convicted along with her husband for the kidnapping of an Oklahoma City millionaire, has been mysteriously spirited out of the Cincinnati workhouse by federal officials, it was learned here today.

Mrs. Kelly was brought here to the workhouse following her conviction in connection with the kidnapping of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma oil millionaire.

After secretly taking Mrs. Kelly from the workhouse, she was taken aboard a train for an eastern destination. The exact destination was unknown and Fred K. Hoehler, Cincinnati safety director, declined to comment upon the removal of the woman.

JURY NAMED FOR TRIAL OF NURSE

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Nov. 14.—Task of selecting a jury to try Miss Frieda Wilhelmina Weltz, 43-year-old World War nurse on charges of murdering her former employer, Francis J. M. Grace, shipping magnate, was completed here today.

The jury was told by attorney for the defense that Miss Weltz would take the stand and tell her entire story.

Indication that the death penalty would be asked, in the event premeditation is proven, was given when the district attorney asked prospective jurors if the sex of the defendant would deter them from voting the death penalty.

The anti-boarding law is inconvenient now that the price of gold is rising.

'Round The Town NEWS OF HOMES AND HOME FOLKS

VOL. 4. NO. 46 Published by STEVENSON'S Tuesday, November 14, 1933

Last Wednesday, while the "editor" was walking on West Main, we met Miss Porter, formerly of near Atlanta and now a resident of Chillicothe, who informed us that she was still using the Estate Heatrola we sold to her in the Fall of 1925 and that it was "as good as new." For eight long and hard winters this Heatrola has been faithfully keeping the Porter home snug and comfy. That Heatrola installation was the fifteenth made by us. The total now runs up into the hundreds. They are scattered all over the county, with about half of them right here in Roundtown. There's one not far from your home. If you want to know if they are giving satisfactory service, ask us to give you the names of your neighbors that are using the Estate Heatrola for whole home heating, including the floor.

A studio couch was recently sold to Mrs. R. in this city and the made such a fine report to us about it that we decided to order another one. The second one just came in the other day and is now waiting for some one to invite it to come out to their home and make things more comfortable.

A lady to whom we sold an Estate Heatrola last August happened to mention her purchase to another party and this party said, "Well, you made no mistake in picking an Estate. I know a lady down in the south end that heats her whole house satisfactorily with one of them." The Heatrola has since been delivered and we hope that our new customer likes the way her Heatrola heats. We also hope that she, too, will turn "booster" for our store and our Heatrolas.

Why shouldn't she be proud of her new purchase? Isn't it one of the very latest designed ranges on the market, all dolled up in shining ivory porcelain? This range has something about it that's called it "it" that draws "lookers" back and turns them into "buyers." We'll admit that it is a real value and we want you to see it when in need of a new range.

Oh, yes! For the gas users—either natural gas or Propane—we'd suggest that they look at that new Estate gas range for only $68.50. It is of the buffet type, the newest style, with fully insulated and heat controlled oven, automatic top burner lighter, everything to make it a real SPECIAL at $68.50.

Why wouldn't it be a good idea to get a new dining suite for Thanksgiving? Some new ones have just arrived. Drop in and see them.

And don't forget that we make things HOT for you.
